Hire Planning Consultant

MATTAPOISETT SELECTMEN'S MEETING
JANUARY 3, 1989-by VIRGINIA MORGAN

Impressed with the planning proposal of Burk Ketcham and Associates, as presented to the Selectmen and Planning Board at the past two meetings, the Board of Selectmen agreed to hire the firm for a period of eight months at a cost of $32,000 (if a Land Use Attorney is used, the cost would be $35,000). The funds would come from the $100,000 donated to the town by Mr. Joseph Keller, developer of the proposed golf course/housing on the Nunes' Brandt Island property.

Selectmen Chairman William F. Hubbard said, "We have to take the bull by the horns, and it will take a lot of effort by a lot of people to finalize the planning proposal." He added that Town Counsel Donald J. Fleming will review the proposal and contract before officially signing with Burk Ketcham Associates.

Planning Board member Richard E. Chase commented on the former Master Plan the Town had prepared in 1965 and asked if there will be a follow-up on the proposals. Mr. Ketcham said, "Yes, I will follow up at town meetings and publicize the proceedings. I have a commitment."

Mr. Ketcham said a question the town committees and Selectmen should ask themselves is whether a full-time planner is needed and can the town support a full-town planner. Planning Board Chairman William H. Matthews said, "You have to take your 'medicine' and follow orders. The representatives on the town boards should carry through with the proposals."

Planning Board member Lawrence O'Pezio voiced his concerns that few voters turn out when zoning changes are on the warrant. "We have had hearings and hacked things out, but at town meeting 100 people will show up to make decisions for 3,000 voters. How do you involve the citizenry in a Master Plan?"

Mr. Ketcham said you have to get public support as you go along in the eight month process. He said you have to get out and speak to the public and get their input. He added, "I recommend the Town get its act together for zoning regulations, or 'unfriendly developers' will jam their development down your throat."

In other business, Selectmen:

AGREED TO SEEK three quotes to include electrical costs from Mattapoisett heating contractors to replace the Town Hall heating system on the north side of the building. Chairman Hubbard said funds should come from the Town Hall account, but the Board may have to go to the Finance Committee for Reserve Fund money for an emergency.

complaining of a gas smell. Town Plumbing Inspector E. Robert Garde was called in to check the problem. He informed Selectmen the gas odor will only get worse. He advised the Selectmen to replace the furnace on the Treasurer's side of Town Hall at an approximate cost of $1,140 (not including electrical work).

When contacted after the meeting, the Inspector said the furnace is about 20 years old and there are minute cracks in the heater exchange and they cannot be repaired. "I advised replacements", said the Inspector.

ANNOUNCED that Mr. Joseph Keller, developer of the proposed golf course/housing on the Brandt Island property of Manuel R. Nunes, has offered to pay the town $375,000 in roll-back taxes for the time the property owners (Mr. Nunes) paid less taxes under state Chapter 61B.

Selectman John N. DeCosta said the Town has asked for $750,000 in roll-back taxes. However, he added in addition the Keller Company has offered to pay the Town $350,000 toward the extra sewer capacity to Fairhaven's sewage treatment plant. Mattapoisett has allocated $450,000 for the added sewer capacity, but the cost is expected to be much higher, Selectman DeCosta explained. With the development as proposed by Mr. Keller, it would require an increased use of both water and sewer, neither of which is available at this time in the Brandt Island section.

At the January 17th Selectmen's meeting an appointment will be made to the Mattapoisett School Committee by a joint vote of the two boards. The term will expire at the next town election.

WERE INFORMED by State Representative John C. RECEIVED A LETTER from Thomas P. Crotty, Attorney for Fairhaven regarding the amendment to the final agreement between Fairhaven and Mattapoisett on the shared expense of rehabilitation and expansion of the waste water treatment plant.

The letter notes, "The principal issue at the December 15 meeting was the cost to Mattapoisett of the .25 million gallons per day reserve. At this point we have estimated that cost but the presently proposed agreement calls for the actual cost to be computed based on a formula set forth in that agreement. I understand that Mattapoisett is concerned with the fact that the actual cost may vary substantially from the estimate because of factors which are beyond Mattapoisett's control. In order to reach agreement I suggest that if the Town of Mattapoisett wants to forego increased reserve capacity we can concentrate on the shared rehabilitation costs only. That cost is less likely to vary and is significantly less than the reserve capacity cost."

Selectman agreed a reply to the Fairhaven Attorney should come from Mattapoisett's Town Counsel Donald Fleming.

NAMED Executive Secretary Carol Adams as the Town's representative to the Joint Transportation Planning Group of SRPEDD. The former representative was former Highway Surveyor Manuel R. Nunes, Jr. The present Highway Surveyor, Wesley N. Bowman, will serve as alternate.

Hearings: Historic District

MATTAPOISETT HISTORIC DISTRICT STUDY COMMITTEE
PUBLIC HEARINGS ON PROPOSED BY-LAW

Property owners in the proposed Mattapoisett Harbor Historic District were notified by mail this week of public hearings to be held Monday, January 23rd, and Thursday, January 26th, at which the details of the By-Law will be discussed. The hearings are open to all interested citizens but a feature of these hearings is the provision for property owners in the proposed district who attend one of the hearings to express their wishes with regard to the district. Only if a majority of property owners voting wish to have an historic district will the Committee take the issue to the floor of the Town Meeting.

Many people think they know what is involved in an historic district, but they usually are wrong. What the proposed By-Law provides is a way of preserving the visible architectural features in the district. What it does not do is control color of paint, color of roofs, walls, fences, or any building changes which are not visible from the street. The only way to be certain you know what the proposed By-Law covers is to come to one of the scheduled hearings and get the full story. The Committee urges you to do so.

Marion Recycling Committee

The Recycling Committee of Marion was formed to reestablish recycling as a viable portion of Solid Waste Management in Marion. The objectives have included separating fact from fiction, and problem from probability.

During the last six months the Committee has looked at what other communities have been doing, visited sites, attended seminars and workshops and investigated options.

Rarely is there a newspaper to be picked up without finding an article on Recycling. Magazines have numerous articles with statistics and success stories of towns and cities. Therefore it appeared initially to be a matter of recontacting contractors used in the past, and meeting with a few new ones.

The Committee began by trying to establish a profitable relationship with contractors to buy glass, plastic, newspapers and metal. As everything has a supply/demand ratio, the contractors were either unable to reimburse for recyclables, or unable to pick them up at all.

Forming a collective with other towns has also been investigated. Although everyone is facing the same problems and is willing to work together, the needs of each town must be met first, and time is a handicap for all volunteer groups.

As most of the area towns have an already established relationship with SEMASS, they as a large contractor were the next logical step. SEMASS is still in their "shake down" phase and developing a Recycle Bag TM program to offer to the communities. Mass Crinc has also been approached as a possible option.

One conclusion that has been drawn is that there will probably be some cost associated with Recycling in Marion. Volume containers, Recycle Bags TM or outside pick-up all involve some cost.

During the next few weeks the students of Tabor Academy will be implementing a method of survey to evaluate how Marion residents believe Recycling should be implemented and what efforts residents are willing to extend on an ongoing basis to Recycle.

January 14th at 9:30 a.m. the Marion Recycling Committee will host a meeting on Recycling in the Natural History Museum. Options will be discussed, questions will be answered, recycled materials will be on versity Dancers, "Aria and Bench Quartet", is a dramatic and jubilant work which has received excellent acclaim from the New York Times. "Clasping their hands in prayer and raising them in exhortation, the dancers swirled in curving patterns and leaped exultantly across the space. When four women swayed on a bench, they made a momentous decision." Varone has chosen common gestures and simple props to bring Bach's Bist du Bei mir and Cantata #78 to life.

Another offering in the modern idiom will be Terese Freedman's "Bach Violin Concerto". This upbeat and whimsical work uses eight dancers to interpret the musical inventions of Bach's Concerto for Violin and Strings in A Minor, the first and third movements. Andrea Watkins' "Ricochet" chooses to explore movement through the lively music of Jean Michel Jarre's Equinox.

The stage sizzles in two presentations by UMass graduates Gary Lussier and Sue Casey. Gary's "Motive for Murder" shows three underworld characters "strutting their stuff" to the music of The Police. Sue, who was motivated by the vocalizations of Aretha Franklin, created "You" which is full of soulful, luscious movement.

Richard Jones' "Visions" was inspired by an original composition of Salvatore Macchia, professor of string bass at UMass. The "vision" is found in words from the Sanskrit - "But today, well lived, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope."

The movement vocabulary and musical offerings are diverse and will provide a well rounded, entertaining performance.

This is the second presentation of the David S. Hagen Performing Arts Series, the first being Vivaldi's "Gloria" in December. The 12:30 performance will be a school assembly and the 7:30 p.m. performance will be free of charge and open to the public.

The 12:30 performance will include "Why Mosquitoes Buzz in People's Ears", a West African tale set to dance by Mr. Jones. This fanciful work, narrated by Pearl Primus, makes use of the many different animals of the jungle as they unravel chain reaction incidents that lead to a tragic event caused by a misunderstanding, things aren't as they seem. This production is designed for the young members in the audience.

Town of Marion, Benson's Brook Road - Request for a Determination to establish correct wetlands delineation at boulder and stump dump. A site inspection was conducted by ConComm on Monday morning, January 2nd. Commissioners emerged from the brambles and greenbriar with proposals to relocate several flags. closed, and a negative determination issued, conditional on the removal of loose concrete debris from the stream bank.

Robert Perreira, West River Road - Request for a Determination of Applicability for clearing of brush from a coastal bank and buffer zone to a Bordering Vegetated Wetland. Hearing closed, and negative determination issued, conditioned on no further brush removal without a filing, and the maintaining of haybale siltation barrier until site is revegetated.

Domenic Iacofano, Point Road - John Rockwell will review proposed wetlands replication plan. The enforcement order still stands.

A preliminary wetland replication plan submitted by J. Garvin Van Doren is scheduled for discussion on January 25 at 8:15 p.m.

Amended Order of Conditions was written for Virginia Nicholson; and orders were written for Constructive Coordination, Inc.

The ConComm unanimously voted to require that a copy of the as-built septic system plan be included with every request for a Certificate of Compliance.

The Commission discussed the environmental impact of sump-pump discharge on streams, wetlands, and ground water. Commissioners agreed that the public needs to be better informed on this topic. Nancy Menzel will prepare a newspaper article.

The state has scheduled for February 23 a hearing on the proposal to classify the Sippican River as an Area of Critical Environmental Concern. The hearing will take place in the Marion Town House conference room. Commissioners were concerned about the limited seating capacity of the conference room and the possible inconvenience to parents because the date falls in school vacation week.

Site visits are scheduled for Sunday, January 8th, beginning at 9 a.m., to George Marshall calls the dances and plays English Concertina. David Cantieni plays flute and oboe. Ann Percival plays keyboards, and Kerry Elkin from Rochester is the band's fiddler.

On Sunday, January 29th, George Marshall and Ann Percival will lead a Swing Dance Workshop. Over the years jitterbug has been described as everything from "a form of hysteria that will prove harmful to the poise of the present generation" to "the ultimate American dance". Ann and George's entertaining instructions make it easy to learn to dance. They carefully explain the dance steps in a way that will have you dancing to the music before you know it. The workshop will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. A potluck dinner will follow. For information call 763-3410.

Celtics star Kevin McHale is Honorary Chairman of the event, sponsored annually by Zayre. The program teaches youngsters about disabilities -- then gives them a chance to help.

Students participating in the Shoot-Out sink as many baskets as they can during a three-minute period in the school gym. Each basket earns money pledged by family and friends. The money funds Easter Seal services for people with disabilities.

The top Basketball Shoot-Out fundraisers will receive autographed Celtics basketballs from Kevin McHale at a Boston Celtics game in March. Student winners also receive Celtics T-shirts and Converse athletic shoes and bags.

Last year more than 4,000 students throughout Massachusetts raised $127,000 in Basketball Shoot-Out. They helped provide disabled men, women and children with such Eastern Seal services as summer camp, therapeutic swim programs, home health care, physical and occupational therapy, speech therapy, equipment loan, support groups for people recovering from strokes and information and referral services.

books on a year of financial activity. It may have been a year of profit or it may have been a year of building the business. Either way, it is time to take the compiled financial information and figure the tax obligation for the business.

In an effort to help answer questions about the tax laws for the small business owner, Cooperative Expansion will hold a Tax Workshop on January 18th from 7 to 9 p.m. at Greater New Bedford Regional Vocational Technical High School, 1121 Ashley Boulevard in New Bedford. No matter what your business entails this tax workshop should be of benefit to you, according to James E. Shaw, Regional Dairy & Livestock Specialist and Small Farms Educator with Plymouth County Cooperative Extension.

Whether you figure your own taxes or use a tax preparer, the workshop should provide you with essential information. You will learn how to get more out of your tax preparer if you use one. You will learn how to deduct expenses for an office in the home or for using a personal vehicle in the business. Carryback of Investment Tax Credit, options for depreciation of capital assets and Alternative Minimum Tax will also be topics for discussion.

According to Shaw, these meetings are open to the public and free of charge. Anyone interested in attending is welcome. These workshops will most benefit people operating a small business of any type.

Cooperative Extension programs are a result of a joint partnership between

Radiation Treatment Center

St. Anne's Hospital of Fall River and St. Luke's Hospital of New Bedford have filed a joint application with the Department of Public Health for Determination of Need (DoN) for a new 6400-square-foot radiation treatment center in New Bedford. Because of state regulations, St. Anne's is one of only three facilities in southeastern Massachusetts licensed to provide radiation treatment. The Determination of Need, if approved, would allow a fourth treatment center for the region.

According to Alan Knight, president of St. Anne's, the two hospitals have spent many months working out the details for the joint venture. "We hope to provide a radiation therapy facility in the New Bedford area that will be an extension of our own facility in Fall River", said Mr. Knight. "We are concerned about the difficult commute many of our New Bedford patients must undertake to obtain the care they need. By joining with St. Luke's, we can give patients fine medical care in the most comfortable, cost effective, and compassionate way possible."

John Bihldorff, president and chief executive officer at St. Luke's, explains the new radiation treatment center as "essential because it guarantees local access to this vital service by the 170,000 residents in the Greater New Bedford area. Patients who need this service typically undergo up to 30 to 35 treatments within a six-week period. They should not have to be referred out-of-town for this important care."

Currently, 45% of the patients treated by St. Anne's radiation therapy program are from New Bedford. "Most patients are treated on an outpatient basis," said Dr. Mary Ann Rose, chief of radiation therapy at St. Anne's. "For them, 20 miles is a long way to travel. And patients who are hospitalized, the most sickly patients, cannot be transported every day for a variety of reasons. This facility will mean greater accessibility to the care people need."

The application for the facility states that St. Luke's will build the center on property already owned by the hospital. St. Luke's will also supply equipment. St. Anne's will lease the facility for 10 years under their own license and will oversee all day-to-day operations, providing administrative and clinical management.

Financially, this arrangement works well for both hospitals, saving what Mr. Bihldorff estimates as "thousands of dollars in development and operating expenses, which would have been necessary had St. Luke's developed the service independently. What's more, service will be better because we will be working in partnership with can-

The cost of building and equipping the new center is estimated at just under $2.5 million. There would, however, be an estimated savings of over $400,000 by using St. Anne's treatment planning services and by consolidating billing, administration, and other functions. The hospitals hope to get a decision on their Determination of Need by 1990. Construction would begin immediately and take about a year to complete.

Dr. Harry Matelski, director of the Oncology Clinic at St. Luke's, welcomes the joint venture because it allows a more regional approach to cancer treatment. "The volume of cancer patients treated at St. Luke's has grown significantly, and we've responded in a number of ways. The Oncology Clinic has specially-trained staff, and, through our association with the New England Deaconess Hospital in Boston, we can provide state-of-the-art chemotherapy, related treatment and ancillary services.

"With the addition of a first-rate radiation therapy service," Dr. Matelski predicts, "our patients will most certainly benefit. The affiliation with the Harvard

Esposito said, "We are committed to making sure everyone understands their rights and responsibilities. If we propose any changes to your return, we will explain the reasons for the change."

Publication 1 is one of several quality initiatives undertaken by the IRS to improve the quality service to its customers. According to Commissioner of Internal Revenue Lawrence B. Gibbs, "While Publication 1 is new, the rights it describes are not. They are long-standing tenets of our tax administration system that are available to all taxpayers." More detailed brochures such as Publication 5, "Appeal Rights and Preparation of Protests for Unagreed Cases"; Publication 556, "Examination of Returns, Appeal Rights and Claims for Refund", and Publication 586A, "The Collection Process (Income Tax Accounts)" continue to be available.

The IRS plans to enclose Publication 1 in most first notices issued involving a tax examination or collection matter. It will also be available at local offices. A copy can be ordered by calling the toll-free number, 1-800-424-3676.

that have lots of mathematics or writing because they're afraid they've forgotten everything they learned in high school. The First Steps program will assuage their fears and break down the barriers to these programs they deem too difficult and unattainable," said Ms. Motta. "The program is an effective way for people to ease back into school. Sometimes just a few basic courses can give you the background you need to successfully finish work towards the associate degree you want."

The program is also about choices. Returning students have more choices now than at any other time in the history of the College, said Ms. Motta. "A career exploration and development seminar will help students learn about themselves. The seminar helps them direct their personality and academic strengths towards a satisfying field of study that is in line with their personal and economic goals," she added.

Registration is going on now for the First Steps Program and for all of the other credit and non-credit courses offered at the main Fall River campus and the New Bedford, Attleboro and Taunton campuses as well. For more information call the College at 678-2811, ext. 155.

NEW GI BILL BRINGS NEW GENERATION OF VETS TO COLLEGE CAMPUSES

Veterans' Administration and education officials expect more than half a million veterans to enter college during the next few years under new laws that provide "GI Bill style" education benefits to those who joined the armed forces since 1985 and extend them, for the first time, to members of the National Guard and Reserve Force.

These new laws (federal) coupled with Massachusetts Veterans laws for entrants into State institutions are very appealing to the young person who wants to go to college, but doesn't have the necessary funds to do so on his/her own. Anyone interested in learning more about these bills (laws) contact your local Veterans' Agent, Russ Converse, at 758-3758 between 8:30 and noon Monday through Friday.

AWARDED $6,450 IN STATE FUNDS

The Rotch-Jones-Duff House and Garden Museum was awarded $6,450 in state funds at a recent awards ceremony held in the Little Theatre of Fall River. Anne Hawley, executive director on the Arts and Humanities, made the presentations. "We are honored to play a role in the rich cultural heritage and ongoing vitality of this region," she said.

The Rotch-Jones-Duff Museum received $5,400 for Merit Aid. This grant will help to support the Museum's program in the arts and humanities which includes concerts, exhibitions, lectures and seminars, etc. The Council's grant of $1,000 will assist the Museum in its efforts to preserve the interior of this historic house. In this instance, the one thousand dollars will be used to conserve oriental/mural wallpaper in the dining room.

In response to the formal announcement of the grant award, State Representative Joseph McIntyre of New Bedford commended the Council for their support. He stated that "the grant enables the City's cultural institutions to provide educational opportunities in the arts and humanities for a broadly based public as well as to Director Janie Chester Young, the courses are designed to introduce beginning collectors and students to the subject of glass history, connoisseurship and conservation.

"Four Thousand Years of Glass" is the subject of a morning survey course, set for February 6 through 10. The class will meet daily, from 9:30 to 12:00, for slide lectures, informal discussions, and workshops where antique glass will be handled, identified and discussed. The course will cover the history of glass from ancient Egypt, through the Venetian glass renaissance, English lead glass, pressed glass, and the contemporary glass revival of the 1960s, 70s and 80s.

The course will culminate in a day-long antique shopping expedition, with transportation provided by the Museum, and led by Mrs. Young.

The second course, scheduled for the following week, will be an in-depth study of New Bedford's involvement in glass history, and the related decorative arts of enameled porcelain, silverplate and other metals, lighting devices, and local styles of interior decoration. The course, New Bedford Glass and Decorative Arts, is designed for persons interested in local history, or collectors of Mt. Washington and Pairpoint glass. It, too, will meet daily, from 9:30 to noon, February 13-17. Students will be invited to bring in their own pieces of glass, silver, or porcelain, for identification and discussion.
